EDITORS'NOTES

Our condolences to Stefanie Bridges and her broken shoulder. No, she didn't fall off her horse, but she is grounded for awhile after tripping over something while baby sitting. She's young and she'll heal quickly so you will see her out there astride again soon.**

Our contest to see who could get the most new members saw the editor, who vowed to win it, go down to humble defeat as Marily McCain surged ahead. Marilyn claims the Goodrich Family with four riders and Mary Thompson for a total of five. Danya King, with a down-to-the-wire tie with Julie Suhr, corraled the Caprino Family with two riders while Julie roped in David St. Charles and Deb Cooper. Trilby lassoed Jeff Loe and Maryben haltered Crummy Arabian's Eric and Kirsten Thompson. So Marilyn gets to ride free in our Fall Quicksilver Ride. We expect a macaw to be the first to finish in the new AERC weight division....featherweight.**

Most endurance riders learn the hard way that the more they ride, the less they know. This contribution from Quicksilver member Jeri Scott is a case in point. "About to take his first horseback ride, a dude was checking out the horses in the stable. An old wrangler asked the dude if he preferred using a Western or an English saddle. "What's the difference?" the dude asked. "The English saddle is flat, while the Western saddle has a horn up front," the cowboy replied. "Just give me the English one then," " the dude said. "I don't expect to be riding in traffic."**

George Sheehan, the author and runner, died recently. He was not a horseman, but with a touch of humor and some thought provoking philosophy, the following quote of his could easily apply to our particular craziness----"Some think guts is sprinting at the end of a race. But guts is what got you there to begin with. Guts start in the back hills with six miles to go and your're thinking of how you can get out of this race without anyone noticing...When we're running in the back of the pack, unconcerned with what others are doing, driven by the need to do our best, we make the effort, and we make it more often. And for those few moments we become the equal of anyone else on this earth." Possibly this is another way of saying "To finish is to Win"...a slogan of which he would have approved.**

A picture we really liked from the QUICKSILVER YEARBOOK/CALENDAR was Jim Dietz at about age six on a pony having his first ride. In order to jazz this Newsletter up a bit, we are going to ask members to send us their pictures taken early on. We Then we'll let the readers guess whose picture it is. The answer will be on the last page. So send us a snapshot (which we promise to return under threat of mayhem if not) and be a Quicksilver Pin-Up. Our first picture is on page 3 .**

Maryben Stover has been concerned over Pepper's ringbone, but is happy to have found someone to lease him who will give him the gentle riding that he needs to continue a good life in semi-retirement. We'll miss all those spots before our eyes going down the endurance trail.**

Carolyn Tucker has leased the mare, Khadija- Tam from Julie Suhr for breeding to the the talented and gorgeous *Oman. Look for a super star to hit the ground next spring.**

This issue of QUIPS has a list of the 1994 members included. Tear it out and save it for quick reference. Our membership drive is over, but we welcome new members any time so talk to your friends about joining the best group of endurance riders in the world. We make that statement unabashedly..it is true!**

The editor is taking a course about MacIntosh computers at Santa Cruz High School. While feeling a bit brain dead compared with the rest of the class, her goal to learn about desk top publishing and a classier QUICKSILVER QUIPS in the future.

WE NEED YOUR INPUT ON THIS.....

Prompted by Jim Dietz's editorial in the February issue of Quicksilver Quips, (in which Jim bemoans the loss of rides in the West Region), Lars Larsen has some suggestions. He says there are more races and rides now than ever before, but on two wheels. And then he mentions the word "multi-use" and how it is a new word in the vocabulary of most of us, but he would like to get a discussion going on the subject. Our trails need to be used if they are to be saved and so maybe multi-use is the answer, Lars explains. He wonders why our Fall Quicksilver Ride can't team up with the Quicksilver Running Club and have the two groups competing on the same day, same trail. Or he suggests the Poker Ride with horses and mountain bikes at Santa Teresa Park which is open to both users. Strength in numbers he says. And, apparently getting an idea from Marvin Snowbarger's Burma Shave jingles and the cross country ski race he has attended, a few Burma Shave type jingles at strategic locations along the trail would make for good fun. Lars enjoys the friends he has in many sports and thinks we could commingle more for a better time and better participation so our sport would grow. So if you have some thoughts on this, get in touch with Lars or other club members for further discussion. Lars can be reached at 268-8051.

Our PIN-UP of the month had her picture taken at the Pied Piper Riding Club in Los Gatos in 1954 or 1955. Better known as the "Mother Hen of Endurance Riding" this picture proves without a shadow of a doubt that she was once a chick herself. WHO IS SHE? Answer on page .

Do You Know?...

DO YOU KNOW THAT Melissa Ribley has a well built 14.3 hand very pretty bay Arabian mare for sale? She is well broke (the mare, not Melissa) and a great endurance prospect. Call Melissa at 268-1378, Grass Valley.

DO YOU KNOW THAT Steve Moran is looking for a horse for a heavyweight rider? He is willing to condition one himself or take on a ready made one. Call Steve at 408-464-3212, Santa Cruz.

DO YOU KNOW THAT summer is almost here and if you don't have your COOL OFF EVAPORATIVE SPORTSWEAR you are going to be too hot to trot? Call Nancy Twight at 408-761-3363, Watsonville.

DO YOU KNOW THAT if you want to dance all night, you should call Joanne Dietz? No, not with her, but with some of her Omnitrition products inside that 50 or 100 mile body of yours you will see the dawn break. Call Joanne at 426-6610, Santa Cruz.

DO YOU KNOW THAT Diana Thompson is going to put on a second HANDS-ON HORSE CARE seminar at Julie Suhr's this spring? Limited to ten people, a mutually convenient date will be set as soon as she can figure out who all is interested. Part II will start off where Part I finished, but it is not necessary to have attended Part I to attend Part II. Call Julie at 408-354-1238 or 408-335-5933 Scotts Valley.

DO YOU KNOW THAT Trilby Pederson has an excellent cross country trail saddle for sale? It's the Frank Baines EPIC and $700 puts it on your horse. Call Trilby at 408-997-7500, Almaden.

DO YOU KNOW THAT there is a Crabbet-Raffles mare that is just waiting for an intermediate rider to enjoy? She is 20 years young and loves to travel with a fast walk and great gaits. She is a super easy keeper and her price is negotiable, but has to be someone that really loves horses. $2500/neg. Call Jennifer Dogey at 408-335-2893, Scotts Valley.

DO YOU KNOW THAT Jennifer has a second horse for sale that is a double Tuhotmos granddaughter that would give you exceptional breeding stock as well as a quiet and calm saddle horse? She has no vices..... exceeding stable and would be a great beginner's horse. She is grey and really sweet and wants a home that will offer a lot of love to her. Call Jennifer at 408-335-2893, Scotts Valley.

DO YOU KNOW THAT there is a 6 year old chestnut Peruvian Paso mare with a fine gait that loves trail riding and would be happy to show you the smoothest ride around? She is 14.2 $\frac{1}{2}$, very obedient and willing and ready for a competent rider. She has already proved herself a good broodmare so think about this one. There is a video available which will make you want this capable \$5,000 mare. Call Jean Farrel at 707-887-9833.

QUICKSILVER ENDURANCE RIDERS DESERT GAMBIT

A plethora of quicksilver riders showed up at the twenty mule team ride to successfully protect the honor of our club colors. When we arrived at three PM Friday it seemed as though half of the endurance riders in California, and a smattering of out of staters were already there. During the night the other half showed up, and camped just about any place that they could find a place to park a trailer. This ride is always fun because it sort of reminds one of the "good old days" when endurance riders came to ride, shoot the bull, and visit with their old lost friends. Ride the best ride they could, and win, lose or draw they always thanked the ride manager for putting on the ride. The primary difference is that it's base camp is located in suburbia Ridgecrest!

To say that JIM BUMGARDNER has understanding neighbors is a great understatement, in fact it would fall in the same category as saying that "RO GRAND SULTAN" is a better than average endurance horse. There were horse trailers parked along the road on JIM and JACKIES lot (five acres) and a vacant lot that nobody knows who owns and who knows were else? The good news is nobody complained and everyone had a great time. Well-, some people had a better time than others, but it can be a tough old world when you do endurance rides. There were no horses in really serious trouble, but several horses did become dehydrated and had to be treated for that as well as secondary problems created from dehydration. Taking horses from our cooler and more humid climate over to the high desert in late winter is always a bit of a "sticky wicket", our horses tend to literally desiccate and they are not that used to riding in deep sand. There was a stretch between vet, check #1 and vet check# 2 that was particularly challenging, that part of the course went up a dry creek bed. The sand was deep and it was a constant up hill climb, with no water, and it was in the heat of the day. This part of the course caught a lot of unwary riders, so by the time they arrived at vet check #3 there were a number of horses being treated, but as stated earlier no one was in serious trouble.

NETTIE KELLY took an early lead in fact she was so far ahead that at the third vet check (50 miles) she had already left before the next one hundred miler came in. Well folks the smart money was on the "tortoises" not the "hare". The next group of one hundred mile horses were about twenty -five minutes behind at this point, but would continue to close the gap at a steady pace throughout the day, but would they be able to pass SUZY, only time would tell? The hundred mile race was definitely becoming more interesting at the eighty mile point, SUZY was still in the lead by two minutes and JUDITH OGUS was running second on AM TAMIRAND, and another club members horse (DAVID ST CHARLES) ridden by LAURA MCOVOY was one minute behind her. She was riding ROYAL COUNT a gelding of pure AL MARAH breeding. The bad news was that no one could tell the ladies where they were to turn off of the trail they were on and pick up the new trail. This is a clue folks bad news is just around the corner. Well you don't have to be a rocket scientist to figure out the bad news. Our courageous riders saw trail markings from a previous loop and the rest is history. CHRIS KNOX and GAIL SNOW came in first and second, this is how they finished at TEVIS this last year on the same critters. JUDITH almost made up the time, and LAURA came in sixth, about fifty feet behind Suzy. Our two gallant riders probably would have been first and second if they hadn't gotten lost. But when you endurance ride ya gotta remember "IT'S A TOUGH OLD WORLD" next time somebody else has to wear the albatross. And any how JUDITH and "TAM" CAME HOME WITH A WELL DESERVED BEST CONDITION. So how can I sum it up for the club I guess I could say "IT WASN'T THE BEST OF TIMES OR WORST OF TIMES" but every one had fun.

Who were the quicksilver endurance riders that went and participated with the exactly 160 starters? Well there were: JUDITH OGUS, DAVID ST CHARLES, BOB and JULIE SHUR, HEATHER BERGANTZ, BECKY GLAZER, CARLA FANARA, TRACY FALCONE, ROBERT and MELLISA RIBLEY, TRILBY PEDERSON, and MARVIN SNOWBARGER.

B E N H A T F I E L D ...My Life, My Loves, My Wishes.....

Life is great! Isn't it great to be a part of the chosen few. To be a horse owners and have their friendship. To be able to ride, train and camp out with good friends. I look forward to each and every ride. Well, well here I am almost a half century old in couple of days and a grandpa to boot. What?. That can't be-I was just 32 years old a couple of years ago.

I must start by giving credit to the person that makes this all possible..My beautiful, courageous wife. I tell you this gal is a real pioneer when it comes to the outdoors and horses.

Wish #1..I wish we had discovered endurance riding years ago but was fortunate enough to meet right people at the right time. More credit due later. My wife is an extremely hard working gal and professional in whatever she undertakes. An old Berkeley gal, she is a woman with a mind of her own and not afraid to speak her piece. She was very much against the Viet Nam war and the conservative movement, like me in my later college years. Anyway, we basically live for horseback riding. This is our relaxation. Work hard and play hard. Some people have different niches in life. Television isn't heard in our house except for Channel 9, Nature, CNN, economy update and the news. That was all different when the kids were still home. Television, friends, band practice, rock and roll. We both enjoy that and 4-H club. Kept us all busy for many years. A two story barn of junk lumber housed Greg's 4-H project, a Kee-angus steer that won grand champion reserve at California State Fair in 1986! What a way to go out in style! Guess what the steer's name was..."Style" wow! And for me to be a part of that exciting moment! Marilyn has three beautiful children, two daughters and a boy. I have a beautiful daughter and a handsome grandson, Brandon. Her kids are just like my own because I have known them since there were knee-high and love them as my own. I was the disciplinarian when they were in their early teens. Getting them to do their own chores and such, stopping fights, minding their mom, taking away the beer and sharing it. The barn later became the kids music room where they had some of the best jam sessions I had heard; all very talented. Kids..they had parties when they thought we were gone all weekend riding. The barn was a great asset for 4-H and later. The kids all turned out to be exceptional adults. Lina has just graduated from Cal Davis and is a Doctor of Veterinary Medicine. We call her Doc-A-Lina. She will be practicing in Costa Rica, probably doing research while her new husband with his new job of district Manager of Cable TV. Mara, beautiful Mara, is now going to Berkeley studying Japanese and will be working in Japan. She visited there for two months. She also is a very balanced rider and has done one endurance ride. More to come when she finishes her college education. And Greg, with his guitar, drums, rock music, motorcycle dirt bike riding. He's like a professional rider with good natural moves. He is now graduated from Cal Poly San Luis, working with computers, heck he can build one of those things! He does R & D for a company in San Luis Obispo. I love to visit him And my beautiful daughter, Laurie, her husband Willie and their son Brandon who is almost two old. Oh, "the terrible two's". He is a handsome blond hair brown eyed little cutie with his Osh-Kosh overalls. He always keeps us amused. He also loves horses and animals at his age. Laurie has attended several colleges and is now working at Kaiser Hospital and will be continuing her education to become a nurse. Her husband Willie was involved with computers for eight years, but is now working for Safeway Stores. A good man.

And for myself, I have a contracting-development company named Hatfield Builder's. We build custom homes and custom remodels. Marilyn and I enjoy riding, traveling, scuba diving, skiing..volley ball (my favorite), theater, good music, rock and roll to classical, and dining out (if I can ever get her out of the house!). Also I enjoy flying and hope to get my own plane someday.

Back to horses. Both of us have always been around horses as kids; Marilyn had a thoroughbred that she used to ride horseback and me with a horse named Dividend who was injured on the race track. Took two years for him to mend. Wow, that was a horse. He didn't forget a thing about racing when he got well. We used to ride on trails right where Highway 280 is now before the highway was ever thought of. Open country, plenty of trails, haas, the good ol' days. Now we have to trailer out of our house just to ride. Too many damn cars! I think highway 280 will be obsolete in ten more years.

Anyway, we have been around horses and owned these wonderful creatures most of our lives. Our level of riding is increasing as we got along with riding lessons, balance and all the informative seminars on horse care and shoeing techniques. We called ourselves "jungle" riders before, but now we are learning and have a lot more to accomplish. So much to learn about horses!

Okay, going back to credit due, first again my wife and then for meeting the right people at the right time. We have always talked about the Tevis. "Would be a dream come true" so we decided to see what endurance riding was all about. We went to the Diablo Canyon ride to help with P & R's. We had heard about it from our club, Diablo Arabian Horse Association.As soon as we saw the beautiful trails, the well conditioned horses and the great people, we knew this was for us. Toward the end of the afternoon, we wanted to know how to get started. We met a neat gal and her friend in camp and started talking. The more we talked, the more interested we became. A decision was made and we participated in next Shine and Shine Only Ride and finished dead last. We rode and probably hand walked twenty of those fifty miles but made it. Everyone clapped as we came into camp with twelve minutes to spare. And thanks to Maryben and Robert for telling us to give it a go. It opened a new world of fun for us. And you guys might be eating our dust someday. Ha, seems like we're well ahead of you on the second half and then out of nowhere you guys come yaw hoeing behind us and just say "Hi guys, bye". Also credit due for sponsoring those juniors all this time. You are great.

Wish #2 To understand women. I love women! I really do. They are very unique individuals and different from men. Maybe there should be in colleges a mandatory class study for men to better understand women. Women Study 1-A? Women. Can't live with them, can't live without them. It is true! Seems like sometimes maybe I am way off, but it seems like some of the women are in a scene where women are against men. I hope sometime soon this war will be over we will have a mutual or equal ending. Hey guys, keep this in mind. Next to God, we are indebted to women, first for life itself and for making it worth living. They are different. Yes, they are, but what would we do without them. Dan Bush..oops sorry, Dan Quayle, had it right. Family is where it is at. Yes, buddy, your wife and your family. I am a very fortunate man to have a wife like Marilyn. Took me ten years to find her. I think I will keep her. I dated a lot of different women in my ten years of being single just to see what women are all about. Also you men, just remember when dealing with women, never give up! Just give in! They are going to get their way anyway. Don't understand them, just love them. And family! I have a wonderful family! The Hatfield clan. Too many now to mention them all. My former wife, Kathleen, and I are still friends and of course on the phone about our grandson. My God, we were just kids when we got married..19 and 20.

More wishes and goals...

To have 100 acres for our horses with good trails that my wife and I can cut. Have our endurance friends join us for rides, camping, barbecues and dancing.

And, of course, to place in the top 20 range in rides and participate in Tevis someday.

To build a restaurant and run it. To own my own airplane. To do more traveling.

I hope to live to be 94 years old like my Great Grandpa dancing and pinching the young ladies.

He was definitely the life of the party.

Dislikes....

Rude people, cruel people. I will always protect the underdog who is trying.

A Very Special Mention: I love you, Marilyn. Thank you for being my wife. A real trooper! To go through these financial hard times and make it together. I have a very courageous wife who backs me 100%. We just sold our 4 new house in 1992 that took three years to complete and we made it through these very difficult times with all our marbles left..financially and mentally. Ben Hatfield

C A R D M E, P L E A S E by Marvin Snowbarger

There are times in your life when you realize how much things have changed. Remember, from your youth, when you were about to turn 21 and you deliciously waited for the day you could legally buy alcohol? Remember how, when you made that first purchase, you were mortified when the sales clerk "carded" you (asked for ID Proof)?

I remember those and, periodically, I see them played out again when some young person ahead of me in line attempts to buy a 6-pac of beer. I would like to say to the new 21er, "Savor the moment, you probably won't be carded again."

Recently, I attained "senior status" and, therefore, qualified for the "senior discount". Like the first alcoholic purchase, I couldn't wait. When the clerk said, "Will that be all?", I said, "I get a senior discount."

The clerk responded, "OK", and hit the buttons on the register. Utterly dismayed, I said, quickly, "Do you need to see my ID for proof?" (I wanted to give the clerk the opening necessary to card me.) "No", the clerk said.

With that, I shut up. Apparently, I look like a senior. But that can't be I said to myself, not when I don't look a day over 30. 24? 39? 55? Other than my appearance, how did they know I wasn't lying?

It's one thing to be upset over being carded at 21, it's another thing altogether to NOT be carded when you pass 55.

I expect to be carded because I can't look like I'm at least 55. My feeling is they had better card me or they can keep their senior discount. From now on, if I'm not carded, I'll insist on paying full price. Hit 'em in the pocket book, the old adage goes, and that will teach them a lesson. They need to learn that dignity for the elderly does not come cheap!

Ed.Note: This is an important letter from avid trail advocate and new Quicksilver member, Nancy White. Mark these dates!

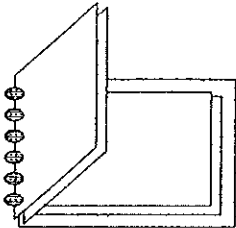

March 7, 1994

Dear Julie,

I'm home from work today nursing a horrible case of poison oak! As promised, I have sent along the dates of the next series of public hearing for the Santa Clara County Trail Master Plan Update. I have also enclosed a copy of the January newsletter. I hope that you are receiving issue of this newsletter, it will be useful for spreading the word to Quicksilver members on the where's, how's and why's of planning for future trail through out Santa Clara County.

As a committee member, I am able to do only so much to support the concept of connecting parks and open space preserves with a system of trails. We need the strong support and participation of all users groups during the public hearing process, to show the overwhelming need, public desire and commitment for planning future trails.

The future of the Ridge Trail will also be determine in this process. There are people in Santa Clara County who do not support this trail and would like to gut this project entirely. The more Quicksilver members are made aware of the importances of being involve in the trails planning process through meetings/workshop attendance. The more opportunity we will have for a cohesive trail system in Santa Clara County.

*Fondly
Nancy*
